A United Church Presbytery convention was held at Lethbridge on Tuesday of this week, attended by ministers and laymen from all parts of the district Lethbridge to Coleman. The session was presided over by Rev. V. M. Gilbert, of Macleod. Rev. W. H. Irwin, of Bellevue, gave a comprehensive and illuminating report on the recent general council.

LOWER GASOLINE UNIT FOR ALBERTA

Effective from Thursday, October 1st, the gasoline ration unit for Alberta was reduced from five to four gallons. The effect is that a car owner, for example, who would have been entitled to 80 gallons for the six months period from October 1st to March 31st, will be cut to 64 gallons.

Officials of the Alberta Motor Association some time ago urged that in view of this province being located in an oil producing area, which is in fact the biggest oil producing region in the Dominion, every effort should be made to provide a maximum supply of gasoline, providing this was not harmful to the country's war effort.

Regional supplying of gasoline, in view of the production of this province, also was urged upon the Dominion authorities, while it was pointed out as essential that the business economy of the country should be fully recognized.

Under the new federal order, Alberta motorists receive four gallons of gasoline per unit, and car owners in Saskatchewan and Manitoba are on the same basis. British Columbia, Ontario and Quebec have been on the four-gallon basis for some months, while the allowance for the Maritime provinces is three gallons per unit.

Heavier demands for fuel for war projects and services in the northwest were responsible for the reduced Alberta ration.

Among those attending the Victory Loan organization rally at Lethbridge on Monday from this district were: W. Wain, Bellevue; George E. Cruickshank, Hillcrest; H. C. McBurney, Allan Brown, Frank Abousafy and W. L. Rippon, Coleman; and W. H. Chappell and C. J. Tompkins, Blairmore. Chairman Senator Buchanan, at the luncheon, stated: "The money we subscribe was not only an investment, but insurance against enemy invasion. To avoid the experience of occupied countries of Europe, Canadians must put up money to equip its armed forces with everything they require to beat the enemy somewhere else than on the soil of Canada. Our money wouldn't be worth the snap of our finger if the enemy conquered us. We must loan to save ourselves from the fate of Poland and other European lands."

From Bond Buyer to Soldier

HILLCREST HAPPENINGS

The Hillcrest Community Club is holding a series of Bingo nights to raise money for Christmas parcels for the Hillcrest men in the armed forces. For the first week, Mr. G. The draw this week will be for a box of apples donated by Mr. J. Lipnicka.

ASSURED PRESS CO-OPERATION

The following letter was received from the chairman of South Alberta section of the National War Finance Committee:

"Calgary, Oct. 7, 1942.
"Editor The Enterprise,
Blairmore, Alberta.

"Dear Sir: As you are aware, there will be a new Victory Loan campaign, commencing October 19th, and continuing until November 7th.

"I am writing you again, requesting your co-operation in your district in putting over this loan. It seems that I am always writing you and making some similar request for your co-operation in War Finance activities. This is due to the fact that you have never disappointed us, and I am sure that you will go 'all out' in your efforts to make this loan a success.

"Yours very truly,
P. C. Galbraith,
Chairman Public Relations Section."

Remember, if your supply of Counters Check Books is running low, it may be difficult to get them inside of three months. Order them now through The Enterprise. You do not save a cent by giving the order to a passing salesman. You pay exactly the same and the little commission goes into his pocket instead of staying at home.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Jack Welsh, Hector Lemire, H. C. Morrison and M. A. Murphy motored to Pincher Creek to listen to the address given by Matthew Halton on Tuesday night.

Final arrangements are being made to hold a market day in aid of the Red Cross here on Wednesday, October 14th. Come and help the Red Cross!

Threshing is well on the way in this district, with some of the fields averaging fifty bushels of wheat to the acre.

Mrs. H. C. Morrison is in Calgary paying a visit to her daughter, Miss Helen Morrison, and her sister, Miss Edna Fulton.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Neumann arrived from Toronto on Sunday and spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Murphy before taking up residence on their ranch, fifteen miles south of Pincher Creek.

After a holiday trip of several weeks, spent at points in Eastern Canada, Rev. W. H. Irwin, of Bellevue, was with us again on Sunday last, when he delivered a very impressive sermon and administered the Lord's Supper in the United church here.

The community was saddened when the death of Mrs. A. S. Donald was made known on Monday from St. Vincent's hospital at Pincher Creek, where she had been a patient for a short time. Mrs. Donald was born in the Mother Country 82 years ago, and was educated in London, England, where she graduated from the London Royal Academy of Music. She taught piano here over a long period of years, with many of her pupils often making high marks in music examinations and at musical festivals. Funeral services were held here on Wednesday afternoon in the Anglican church and interment was made in the Cowley cemetery, with Rev. Mr. Barlow, of Brockton, performing the last rites. Beautiful floral tributes were tokens of esteem in which the departed was held by a host of friends. Pallbearers were Harry Gunn, Richard Alexander, William Tustian, Homer Morrison, John Welsh and Wilfred Corrier. Mrs. Donald was predeceased by her husband, the late Dr. Donald, who departed this life several years ago. She leaves to mourn her loss two daughters, Mrs. Arthur Brockwell and Mrs. Wilfred Fortier; one son, Jefferson Donald; three grandchildren and one great grandchild. The community joins in sympathy for the bereaved ones.

Douglas Lord, R. C. N., who has been spending part of his furlough in Blairmore and district, will return east early next week. Douglas is member of the crew of a Canadian corvette.

Seventy-six Polish families in Coleman raised $2,441.59 for war purposes since the start of the war.

THIRD VICTORY LOAN IS ESSENTIAL FOR SECOND-FRONT PUSH!

Next spring, at the latest, Canadian troops, with their British and American brothers-in-arms, will go into action on the long-sought second front, and once that fight opens it can only end in 'complete' victory or defeat. Are you doing all you can to see that our soldiers will go into the hell of battle properly equipped, backed by strong mechanized support and assured of all necessary supplies?

Every citizen of the country will be called on to answer that question sooner or later and everyone will be given an opportunity to sacrifice to the limit, when Canada's Third Victory Loan opens on October 19. Only if the money is provided can the tools of war be turned out in time for the victory push.

Canada's Third Victory Loan will be the largest of the war. The minister of finance is asking for $750,000,000, an increase of 150 million over the last Victory Loan. However, the last loan was 50 per cent oversubscribed, and a similar oversubscription must be recorded in the present loan if the soldiers overseas are to be shown that they have the complete support of the civilians at home.

To each individual the sum required seems tremendous, but it really isn't considering the increased spending power which has been available during the past years. Six months ago Canadians loaned the government close to one billion dollars and yet bank savings today are higher than they were before the last loan. True, many large accumulations have been subscribed outright and that money has not been replaced. But thousands of citizens have bank accounts today who had none one year ago, and it is from these accounts and from current earnings that Canada's war finances must be obtained.

Every citizen must consider how much he can give, and after he has given his utmost, he might pause and think of what hundreds of Blairmore and district men are giving. Each one of those men is offering his life, not only for the country of his birth or choice, but for you and you and you—citizens who, for one reason or another, cannot actively face the enemy. After considering this, the large majority of citizens should be able to find ways and means to purchase at least one more bond.

Nothing but your best will do in this loan. The German people are giving their all, and unless our best is better than theirs, victory will go to our opponents.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hillary, of Calgary, formerly of Coleman, announce the engagement of their youngest daughter, Hilda, to Corp. Frederick Simmonds, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Simmonds, of Saskatoon, the marriage to take place in Calgary this month.

Through the central section of the town, on the Old Man (or Crow's Nest) River the Pools Construction Co. are doing an excellent job. When completed, the people of central Blairmore will be satisfied. But it is to be hoped that some provision is to be made to prevent another overflow of York Creek through West Blairmore.

At Central United church, Blairmore, on Sunday next, 11th October, at 7.30 p.m., Rev. W. H. Irwin, of Bellevue, will be guest preacher. Mr. Irwin has recently returned from meetings of the General Council of The United Church of Canada, which were held in Bellevue, Ontario. He will give some of the "highlights" of that great gathering. All are cordially invited to attend this service.

A NEW, SWIFT MINES VEEPER FOR THE R.C.N.

A new type of minesweeper, faster than Navy ships of the Bangor class, is carrying a heavy share of the battle of the United Nations against the enemy at sea. ## Canada's Short Wave Station To Cover The World

Ottawa.—The plain, unvarnished truth in the form of news will be the strong right arm of Canada's propaganda service when her new short wave station to carry her voice to the far corners of the world is opened in about a year's time, it was learned here.

Two veterans of Canadian broadcasting, men who have watched the development of radio services in the Dominion and compared them with those of other nations will be guiding forces in construction and the work of the station which will rise at Sackville, N.B.

Following announcement by War Services Minister Thorson that the station would be built at a cost of $800,000, it was learned that technical matters concerned with construction and operation would be the responsibility of Dr. Augustin Frigon, assistant general manager of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

An announcement dealing with the duties of CBC officials said that Gladstone Murray, now general manager and who will be director-general of broadcasting after Nov. 2, will be required, among other things, to "pay special attention to the programs of the high-powered short wave stations and to the arrangements for their world-wide distribution."

Programs will be developed in consultation with the external affairs department, which means that Norman Robertson, under-secretary of state for this department, will have an important part in decisions to be made.

Services of writers and others within the war information board organization, headed by Charles Vining, are expected to be available for short-wave broadcasts. The information board recently took over the public information bureau.

Officials recalled that the short wave station has been supported by CBC officials for several years.

In a report to Mr. Thorson late last year, Dr. Frigon said the cost of supplying programs to short-wave stations was difficult to estimate as they depended on the policy followed and what it was hoped to accomplish.

"It may be expected, however, that the service will be largely built around a framework of news both international and domestic," Dr. Frigon said.

"This means that news broadcasting rights will have to be secured."

It was understood that this view still is supported by government authorities who have learned of the effectiveness of the concise, truthful news broadcasts sent throughout the world by the British Broadcasting Corporation.

The short-wave station will have two 50-kilowatt transmitters with three directional antennas, and it is believed this set-up would be sufficient to cover most of the world. One could be directed to the United Kingdom and Europe, another to South America and the West Indies and the third to the northwest territories, Japan and China.

There will be careful timing so that broadcasts in the appropriate languages will be directed to various countries at the hours when the listening audience is likely to be at its best.

In directing broadcasts with a particular message to various countries, Canada will be able to draw on scholars, soldiers, scientists and statesmen from countries now overrun by the enemy and who have made their homes in Canada. It was understood that volunteers prepared to participate in such programs have already made their appearance. Even enemy countries may expect to hear from Canada the voice of men known as leaders in their home lands before the war.

Officials said that while an admitted purpose of the station was self-defence and counter-attack against the flow of German and Italian short-wave propaganda directed at Canada, it might be that the use of Canadian resources to "jam" enemy broadcasts would never be required.

PASS EXAMINATIONS

Ottawa.—The number of Canadians who passed St. John Ambulance Association examinations up to June 30 this year was nearly double the total for any full pre-war year, the ambulance committee of the association reported. The committee is under chairmanship of Dr. H. A. Bruce of Toronto.

VICTORY PRODUCE

Plan For Farmers To Share In The Victory Loan

Ottawa.—The national war finance committee, preparing for the third Victory Loan campaign opening Oct. 19, described a "produce for victory" plan under which Canadian farmers will be able, through a pledge, to divert to the loan part of the proceeds from farm products when such products are sold.

"Under the new plan, farmers will be able to take up their share in the loan without jeopardizing their working capital or the reserves necessary to enable them to meet emergencies," the war finance committee said in a statement.

The regular Victory Bond sales organization will obtain signed victory tickets from the farmer, authorizing any buyer to whom he may sell his farm produce to deduct a percentage of the sales price of that produce and forward it to the national war finance committee's provincial headquarters.

The farmer will receive from the national war finance committee the equivalent value in Victory Loan bonds.

The plan is open to every member of the farmer's family. The boy can promise a share in his club calves or pigs; the daughter a portion of her poultry, flock or garden. Mother can sign a victory ticket for a proportion of her poultry, egg or cream cheque, all to be redeemed as these products are ready for market.

Aliens Serving In Canada's Armed Forces

Ottawa.—Aliens serving in Canada's forces overseas in future may become Canadian citizens at the discretion of the secretary of state without waiting the required five years, an external affairs spokesman announced at a press conference.

An order-in-council has been passed under the War Measures Act relaxing the naturalization laws for the benefit of aliens who enlisted in Canada's armed forces and have gone overseas. It will not apply to aliens who are serving in Canada.

Under the Naturalization Act, no person can obtain naturalization until they have lived in Canada five years. They have to apply to the courts and a judge passes on their eligibility, after which the secretary of state has discretion as to whether he will permit them to become citizens of this country.

The new order-in-council will provide a short cut. Aliens in the overseas forces will apply to the secretary of state for naturalization papers and the ministry may grant their request if he sees fit—regardless of how long they have lived in this country.

The step is an appreciation to the aliens who have joined Canada's fighting forces. Officials said, however, that the machinery for granting this privilege has yet to be set up, so the aliens must wait a few weeks after their applications are handled.

Cuttack, India.—Twenty-five persons were killed when police fired on a mob attempting to raid a police station at Erum.

HITLER'S SPEECH

Tries To Make German People Think That All Is Satisfactory

London.—British sources and others familiar with Germany interpreted Hitler's speech as an apparent effort to assure both his troops and people that every phase of the war is satisfactory.

Briton's noted with interest that the loudest cheering greeted Hitler's promise of the hour to come when the German air force would retaliate for the R.A.F. bombings of Germany. They declared this was an unmistakable tribute to the efficacy of large-scale attacks on German cities.

Significance also was seen in the assertion of Goebbels that "America hates Nazi Germany from the bottom of her heart" and that "whatever reserve strength the United States possessed 'must soon run out.'"

Such a statement hardly would have been necessary, these sources declared, unless the forthcoming role of the United States in shifting the balance of power to the Allies had made a considerable impression on German morale.

Qualified quarters were impressed by the fact Hitler avoided the once-familiar forecasts of the early and complete destruction of the Russian armies and instead was content to tell the people this year's military objectives had been achieved and occupied territories in eastern Europe soon would be in positions to pour food and other materials into their laps.

GESTAPO OFFICIAL KILLED

London.—A Reuters despatch dated "From the German frontier," said that Alois Gruber, high ranking Gestapo official, was reported from Prague to have been killed there while "fighting the enemies of the Reich in the protectorate."

London.—Six overall clad women are working in the Canadian National Railway car shops. Plant officials said they had been unable to get men to fill the jobs. The women have taken over light work in the shops.

H.M.C.S. Assiniboine Rams And Sinks Submarine

In a stirring sea action fought in an unspecified area the Canadian destroyer H.M.C.S. Assiniboine rammed and sank a German U-boat after a gun battle at close range. Only one man of the Assiniboine's crew was lost and the Canadian warship made prisoners of most of the submarine crew. The sturdy Canuck warship is shown at left, and at right, German prisoners from the sunken submarine are shown climbing a rope ladder to safety and imprisonment on the destroyer.

WON HIS FIGHT

Commander of H.M.C.S. Assiniboine in her close range battle with a German submarine, ended when the warship rammed and sank the U-boat, was Lieut.-Com. J. H. Stubbs of Kaslo, B.C., shown here.

WAR CONTRACTS

Placing Of Contracts On Prairies Has Improved

Edmonton.—Placing of federal contracts in the prairie provinces has improved in the past two months, G. E. Carpenter of Winnipeg, secretary of the prairie division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, said in an interview here.

Mr. Carpenter said he had been keeping in close touch with Ottawa and could say that the department of munitions and supply was doing its best to send war orders to the west.

WHEAT IN STORAGE

Ottawa.—Canadian wheat in store for the week ended Sept. 24 totalled 406,912,145 bushels compared with 406,319,198 bushels Sept. 17 and 474,228,341 bushels Sept. 24, 1941, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported.

Labrador is the point on the mainland of North America which is nearest to Europe.

FERRY POOL

Celebrates Third Anniversary With Amazing Record

London.—Air Transport Auxiliary, the vast pool of civilian air and women who ferry aircraft from factory to airfield half-way around the world, celebrated its third anniversary with a record of more than 100,000 planes delivered and 225,000 hours flown, equivalent to 30,000,000 miles.

The A.T.A. unofficially designated as "anywhere to anywhere," has delivered aircraft to and from North America, Africa, the Middle East and Malta. About 117 types of machines have been handled by the organization, from the smallest trainer to the greatest bomber. A quarter of the pilots are qualified to fly them all.

Women pilots from a tenth of the total and many are capable of flying fighters and twin-engine bombers.

Almost 100 of the company, including some women, have lost their lives.

The total of 100,000 in the course of three years represents an average of more than 300 aircraft for every working day. On that reckoning the daily traffic of A.T.A. has been the equivalent of many a channel sweep. During the critical times in France, the day's work of certain ferry pilots involved much danger, for they were delivering machines in the front line and some of them got out of the air-dromes only just in time to avoid capture.

One-Third Of Convoy Work By Canadian Navy

Ottawa.—Ships of the Royal Canadian Navy "this summer" have sunk four enemy U-boats, probably sunk two others, and taken part in "many other promising attacks," Navy Minister Macdonald told a press conference.

The four submarines known to have been sunk include the one destroyed by the Canadian destroyer Assiniboine in a spectacular action described a little over a week ago in a lengthy press release from naval headquarters.

The minister also said:

The Royal Canadian Navy now has a strength of nearly 500 ships and about 48,000 men, including 1,100 officers and men serving with the Royal Navy.

The recent sinkings by enemy action of the patrol vessel Raccoon and the corvette Charlotte were occurred in the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

There has been no confirmation of rumors that submarine parties have made a landing anywhere on the Canadian coast.

One-third of the convoy work between Canada and Europe is being borne by the Royal Canadian Navy.

"This summer the Royal Canadian Navy has sunk four U-boats, two are probably sunk and there have been many other promising attacks," said Mr. Macdonald.

He gave no details of the sinkings except to say that they include the exploit of the destroyer Assiniboine in sinking a submarine and capturing survivors of its crew.

Ordinarily the navy does not announce sinkings of enemy vessels until three months after the incident occurs in order to keep information from the enemy, he said.

Every Canadian Must Be Used For War Effort

Seignior Club, Que.—Warning of increasing "inconvenience," "distraction," and "hardship," Elliott M. Little, director of national selective service, said in an address that "from now on every Canadian must fit himself into a national plan of action . . . which envisages only fighters and producers."

"There has been an incalculable waste of manpower in this country through needless labor turnover," he said in an address prepared for delivery to the annual convention of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

"The amount of absenteeism on the part of many workers," he added, outlining means by which these problems would be overcome, "through failure on their part to realize what effect their absence from work may have on the outcome of this war."

National selective service was the machinery through which Canada proposed to organize all the people in the country for one purpose—that of total war, Mr. Little said. And "total war means that all the people—not just a few—must be pitted against the enemy."

Stressing "the growing acuteness of Canada's manpower situation," he estimated that Canadian industry could "usefully absorb at this moment" an additional 100,000 workers. National selective service offices throughout the country had received applications for that number of workers which they were unable to provide.

The national selective service director listed Canada's manpower needs in particular industries. At Sudbury, Ont., he said, a blast furnace, producing copper and nickel, had been forced to close down because of lack of men.

The coal mining industry was producing less coal than Canada is using and considerably less than the expected demand. "We are actually living on our coal storage reserves," Mr. Little warned.

Production of plane spruce in B.C. was "considerably below requirements" due to lack of men. The base metal mines, producing copper vital to the war effort, are undermanned, with tonnage in some instances down to half of what it was two years ago.

Steel plants in the Niagara peninsula of Ontario had potential production due to shortage of men.

Finally—"our farmers, producing the food without which neither our armed forces nor our munitions workers could continue, are doggedly trying to maintain and even expand production—with far less than adequate help."

These conditions could not be permitted to continue as long as Canada had hundreds of thousands of people engaged in jobs or industries which have little or no relation to the outcome of the war.

Thus curtailment of less essential industry was necessary even though two other methods of solving the problem were being employed—the introduction of women into war work and increased efficiency on the part of present essential industries.

"More and more people will be inconvenienced through the dislocation occasioned by this war. There will be some hardship. Some will be hurt more than others. There cannot be equal sacrifice or hardship in wartime," Mr. Little said.

REPORT OF MASSACRE

Claim 25,000 Russians Were Slain In Odessa

Moscow.—The Soviet radio said a letter received in Moscow reported that Rumanian troops had massacred 25,000 Russians in Odessa, Axis-occupied Black Sea port.

The victims were declared locked in barracks and blown up. The radio said the troops then poured oil on the wreckage and burned the bodies.

REQUESTS FOR EXTRA SUGAR

Ottawa.—Canadians who need extra sugar in their diet for reasons of health will no longer have to present a doctor's certificate to get it. The wartime prices and trade board ruled requests for extra sugar for health needs, including baby's diets, will be left to the discretion of ration officers.

SHIP EVERY THREE DAYS

Ottawa.—Canada now is launching merchant ships at the rate of one every three days, munitions and supply officials said. This week the first of the 10,000-ton cargo vessels being produced in Canada was completed and only one of them was completed in 1941.

MAIL CHRISTMAS PARCELS
NOW TO FORCES OVERSEAS

Santa Claus must get off to an early start if our armed forces overseas are to get their Christmas boxes on time. Though that holiday seems far in the distance, today is not too soon to start Christmas overseas mailings. The postmaster-general, Hon. William P. Mulock, advises that gifts should be sent now during October, the earlier the better, to ensure timely delivery. November 10th is the very latest date that parcels may be mailed if they are expected to arrive in time for Christmas. However, patrons are urged not to defer mailing until the very latest possible date, but to mail early and prevent congestion, and give the postal authorities opportunity to arrange for cargo space aboard ocean vessels. A great influx of mail reaching the base post office around, or after, the "deadline" set would result in delivery being delayed, for not only would it accentuate the problem of handling, but of finding sufficient storage space aboard ship because only a limited space is allotted the post office in view of the urgent requirements for forwarding munitions and other war supplies.

To further facilitate the problem of providing adequate shipping space for the Christmas mails to the forces, it is suggested, that although the maximum weight of a parcel at reduced rate is set at eleven pounds, senders should voluntarily cut down as far as possible on the weight and size of their Christmas packages. If they do so, they will help make more accommodation available for other parcels on the same ship, and give the post office the chance to make deliveries in time for all. There is the most vital need of full co-operation by the public, for this year the post office expects an all time record in the overseas volume of military mails will be established and is already preparing in every way possible to handle and expedite the influx.

Greater care than ever before is necessary on the part of mailers, in the preparation of their overseas parcels, in order to avoid delay.

Address all mails in ink, fully, clearly and without misleading abbreviations. Be sure to place return address on cover; also include a slip in the parcel bearing sender's address as well as address of parcel. Prepay all mail correctly.

Parcels should be packed compactly enough to resist the pressure of other mails in the sack and the handling in transit. Use strong corrugated containers, not light cardboard boxes; wrap in several layers of thick wrapping paper and tie securely with strong cord. Do not use Christmas tissue paper for wrapping, or colored ribbons to tie parcels. Mail may be sewn in strong cotton or similar fabric.

Jams, syrups and any other substance likely to leak and spread, if sent at all, must be enclosed in sealed containers (not glass bottles) surrounded with absorbent material in corrugated cardboard, and securely wrapped and tied. A complete customs declaration form should accompany every parcel. Apples, grapes, etc., or any article likely to spoil or become damaged, or to injure postal personnel or the mails are not acceptable.

One American flyer, recently returned from China, claims that this is because the noise of the Japanese going over China at nights wakes them up.—Ex.

One of the worst forms of vandalism imaginable was perpetrated recently at Nova Scotia, when the Baptist church was entered and the large pulpit bible removed to the rear of the church and destroyed. A church bulletin, indicating current expenses and collections, was also torn from the wall. The bible was torn to shreds.

A warning to clergy in Western Canada regarding the activities of two men posing as coppermiths is published in the current issue of the Western Catholic. The men offer to lacquer a church ornament free, then after showing the results contract to do further work without naming a price. They send what they can get to Winnipeg for renovation, then pass it off as their own work and charge exorbitant prices for the job.

Two airmen from the Mapled airport were knocked down just east of Blairmore on Saturday evening late by a car driven by Martin Evans, of Todd Creek district, who told the police he was blinded by the glaring lights of an approaching car and could not see the men till he had hit them. The airmen were removed to the Coleman and Blairmore hospitals, one suffering fracture of both legs, the other head injury. The latter was able to leave hospital shortly after entering.

Our debt to the Soviet is a hundredfold heavier than is the Soviet debt to us; for for all we need to do is contemplate what would have happened to us had Stalin chosen to go along with the Axis, as so many writers predicted, he would eighteen months ago. We have our hands full as it is with Hitler and Japan, even when millions of Russian lives have been sacrificed to help hold our lines. Had those lives been sacrificed to break us, we would not be arguing about the petty things which concern us in Canada today. — Drumheller Mail.

The resignation of Mr. Frank Turner, of Bellevue, as general shopwork teacher at the local and Coleman schools has been accepted by the two boards. His successor is Mr. G. R. Howarth, of Stirling. Mr. Howarth's qualifications are: senior certificate in general shopwork, first-class permanent teacher's certificate, second year of B.Sc. in arts. It is owing to ill health that Mr. Turner has been obliged to relinquish his position here, but he is moving to Cranbrook for a time, where he hopes to continue in the same work. Mr. and Mrs. Howarth and son David have arrived in Coleman, to take up residence there.

TIME BOMBS

It will take more than soft soap to clean up this world. It will take plenty of grit.

If you want to get the system out of a mess, first get the mess out of your system.

Canads must buckle down or she will buckle up.

The Long and the Short of It
Short on rubber, short on gas, Canada's not what she was.
Short on coffee, short on tea, Canada, what will she be?

Long on courage, long on fight, Canada toils through the night.
Long on spirit, long on men, She'll rebuild the world again!

We must either face the future with self-sacrifice or leave our children to face the music.

We hear some complaints about how "awful" the war-time restrictions are. But it's far better to have our own government take away our privileges than to have the enemy take them away. These aren't the awful things—it's the things that are happening in Greece, and Poland, and France, and Holland, and Norway that are awful.

FALSE FREEDOM

A young woman defending her continued attendance at some very doubtful place of amusement, declared, "I think a Christian can go anywhere."

Her friend answered, "Certainly she can; but I am reminded of a little incident last summer when I met with a party of friends to explore a coal mine. One of the women appeared in a dainty white gown. When her friends remonstrated, she petulantly appealed to the old miner who was to act as guide, 'Can't I wear a white dress down in the mine?' The old man answered, 'Yes, there's nothing to keep you from wearing a white frock down there, but there'll be considerable to keep you from wearing one back.'—Salvation Army War Cry.

Doctor: "You should take a bath before you retire."
Patient: "But, doctor, I don't expect to retire for another twenty years."

CHINESE REMEMBERS HIS DEAREST HOME TOWN

Henry Mah, brilliant Chinese young man who gained the early part of his education in the Cranbrook schools, has written from Toronto to The Courier, renewing his subscription. In ending his letter he says:

"Although I had intentions of taking a holiday trip back to Cranbrook this year, the urgency of this work has made such a long vacation very difficult. Therefore it will be your newspaper that will keep me informed of the happenings in the dear home town."

Henry graduated in electrical engineering, and is now working in a government plant near Toronto.—The Cranbrook Courier.

Brown: "You know, no matter where I hide my money, my wife always finds it."
White: "My wife never finds mine. I keep it in the basket with my undarned socks."

ANCIENT DOCTRINE REVISED

Once upon a time, Earl of Chatham could say: "The poorest man may in his cottage bid defiance to all the force of the Crown. It may be frail; its roof may shake; the wind may blow through it; the storms may enter; the rain may enter—but the King of England cannot enter; all his forces dare not cross the threshold of the ruined tenement!"

In less impassioned prose, Order No. 183 of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board provides that a Rentals Administrator may "enter, or authorize any person to enter, any premises for the purpose of inspecting and examining the same." — The Printed Word.

"I'M A FREE MAN!"

"I'm glad I live in Canada. My family is safe here. There is no Gestapo, no hunger, no brutal aggression. I have a good job, and I am free, and unafraid.

"In many lands, the people have been robbed and beaten, their money and possessions forcibly taken from them. Here in my country, I can lend my money and know that it is safe, backed by all the resources of Canada, and that I will get interest on it, too. I am gladly doing without some things so as to be ready to lend every dollar I can to the country that has been so good to me and my family."

Every dollar you lend to Canada helps to protect you . . . gives you the right to work in personal freedom instead of under brutal dictators . . . enables you to live your own life, for yourself and your loved ones.

Victory Bonds are a good way to save . . . this country has always paid back every penny loaned to it, with interest. Plan now how you can lend your money . . . figure how you can save to lend more. Back up the men who are fighting for your freedom . . . let your self-denial show your loyalty to Canada.

When the attorney-general of Ontario tells the minister of justice of Canada that he will no longer assist in administering the Defence of Canada regulations, he is displaying a peevishness more suitable to the proceedings of a town council than to a communication from a provincial to a Dominion cabinet minister. The incident that caused the outburst is not to be lightly dismissed, because it indicates a fundamental difference of opinion between judges on a matter that affects the liberties of all Canadian citizens.—The Printed Word.

CYCLING IN CANADA'S NATIONAL PARKS

THE ENEMY STOPS SHORT

When an individual, either as an enemy agent or as an honest person who believes what he says, whispers that Canada's Victory Loan bonds will be cashed after the war, he does not go far enough. To be consistent, and fair, he should add that any future condition in this country which would cancel out the value of Victory Bonds would also make all life insurance policies worthless. He should explain that savings accounts would be wiped out. He should point out that all dollar bills, five-dollar bills, or any other kind of currency, including silver coins, would be just something to toss into the ash can.

Victory Bonds cannot be set aside as something separate and apart from other obligations of this, our country. They are just as sacred a "promise to pay" as the one dollar bills we carry in our pockets.

These bonds are held by the people of Canada, and the only way through which they could be repudiated would be by a decision of the people of Canada not to pay themselves back.

The pessimist is out of order in Canada. The assets and resources of this country which back up these loans from the people are billions and billions of dollars in excess of the loan totals. Even with all the borrowing that has had to be done since the start of the war in 1939, the interest cost of Canada's total debt to this date is only 189 million dollars a year.

Canadians can and will meet indebtedness of that size. Fifty years from now our children and our children's children will likely smile quietly at the small financial problem which we thought was so big.

Helping With War Work

Convicts Behind Prison Bars In Britain Are Not Idle

Britain has fitted her convict population into her war effort to insure that every possible man-hour of work counts.

The Home Office couldn't give figures—its statisticians are tied up with more vital work—but it is evident the country has made good use of hands that otherwise would have been idle behind prison bars.

One of the most notable innovations was the summons of convicts to aid in gathering this year's record harvest.

The Home Office explained this was done only because the need for harvest hands was imperative and assured that these convicts worked "under very careful supervision indeed."

Industries behind prison walls swell the tide of war production in increasing degree. Under the direction of government departments, convict labor is turning out such vital necessities as boats, telephone and radio parts, gas masks, hammocks, haversacks and component parts of many different weapons.

In one prison, a particular gun part is being mass-produced.

In another prison, school course in mechanics is fitting many men for new places in industry both while they are in prison and after they complete their terms.

Women as well as men prisoners are at work in war production. "We are always looking for opportunities to fit prison industry into war production," said a Home Office official. "No manpower is wasted."

The fifth Earl of Angus was nicknamed "Bell-the-cat."

In Traditional Fashion

Chinese Defendants Wanted To Take Oath Their Own Way

Thirty-four Chinese defendants caused consternation in magistrate's court at Liverpool when they proposed taking an oath in traditional Chinese fashion by breaking a saucer each and saying, "as this saucer is broken so may my soul be shattered."

Several hundred Chinese witnesses might be called in the case, and only two saucers could be found in the courtroom.

The magistrate observed, "there is a war on and the breaking of saucers seems to be a needless extravagance." The manufacture of china is limited for the duration.

One Chinese then suggested that the oath be taken to the accompaniment of the cutting of throats of cockerels.

With food rationing in effect that idea was worse than saucer smashing.

The Chinese consul finally suggested that most witnesses could be persuaded to raise their hands and speak an oath.

The Chinese defendants, all seamen, were charged with assaulting five policemen and damaging property on a ship in a northern port.

Explanations and Comments

Two Words that Changed a Life, Mark 2:14. The second chapter of Mark records a series of events that happened at Capernaum. In the city, sitting at the place of toll, was a Jew better known afterwards as Matthew, a publican, a tax-gatherer for the hated Roman rulers, despised by his own people because of his occupation. One day Jesus passed by and called Matthew to follow him. Probably the toll Matthew was collecting was that levied on the caravans which passed through Capernaum on their way to and from Egypt and Damascus. The Pharisees would glaze at Matthew no doubt saying to themselves, "publican and a sinner"; but Jesus, knowing Matthew's thoughts and possibilities, said to him, "Follow me," chose him to be one of his close followers.

Perhaps Matthew had seen and talked with Jesus before this, that we do not know, but now had come the time for decision. He had to decide between his old, well-tried life of fair prosperity and a new, unknown life of poverty. He arose and followed Jesus. He recognized the power of Jesus and at once yielded his life to his old life.

Christ Came to Call Sinners, Mark 2:15-16. The scribes took issue with Jesus over several matters which Mark gives consecutively in this second chapter: they accused him in their hearts of blasphemy when he declared the sins of the paralytic forgiven; they criticized him for eating with publicans and sinners; they found fault with him because his disciples did not fast, and because they ate and drank with publicans and sinners and then they entered into a conspiracy with the Herodians to compass the death of Jesus.

Our text records their criticizing his eating with publicans and sinners. Matthew had eaten a great feast for his new Master and fellow disciples (Lk. 9:10), and so many were the guests, both publicans and sinners, that the gathering must have been held in the courtyard of the house, as was often the custom. When they were reclining at table, some scribes of the Pharisees walked in, as any Pharisee would do. "The scribes entered to look on, but they stayed to criticize. 'How is it that he eateth and drinketh with publicans and sinners?'" they said to the disciples. Publicans (tax-gatherers) were social outcasts; they were hated for their usual extortion, and especially because they were held to be unpatriotic in collecting taxes for a foreign power.

Jesus heard the question and answered for the disciples: "They that are with me, (that is, the righteously Pharisees) have no need of a physician (a Saviour), but they that are sick, (that is, the publicans and sinners, need him). I come not to call the righteous, but sinners."

Slump In Sale Of Seneca Root On

The seneca root harvested by Alberta Indians is suffering a slump because of the war. Used in nearly every cough medicine, seneca root has its best field in central Alberta, where three tribes of Indians, the Stoney, Cree and Chipewyan, dig for it each year. Decades ago a strong medicine was brewed from the root by the Indians themselves, but nowadays it is sold for the most part to buyers in town. In pre-war times Germany was a big customer for Canada's crop of seneca and China's order was a fairly large one. Today, some small orders are received from New York where Jewish doctors, escaped from Germany, have set up their businesses, but not nearly enough is being bought to absorb the large quantities of the root now in stock.

MRS. MINIVER

Adapted From The Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Picture
By HALSEY RAINES

Not even the constant procession of German bombers could stop Lady Beldon's annual flower show. It was mounted, with the usual peace-time grandeur, at Beldon Hall, with everyone in the village, great and small, playing a part. On a long, low platform the most eminent Glee Club talent of the county provided the supplementary entertainment.

The great event of the afternoon, of course, was the judging for the prize rose, which would earn the reward of Lady Beldon's Challenge Cup. This was the business closest to the elderly donor's heart. Each year she had put up the cup, staked her silver trophy against the field, and automatically captured the prize. Competition was sporadic and excessively mediocre. There were those, too, who said the judges would sooner have tried to swim the length of the Thames than vote against Lady Beldon's entry, and risk her volcanic wrath. Today, however, the handsome, luxuriant flower entered by Stationmaster Ballard and christened "the Mrs. Miniver," had excited involuntary tribute from almost all those who inspected it.

When the slip of paper announcing the judges' will had been brought to Lady Beldon, she covertly looked at it and read: First Prize Silver Cup, Lady Beldon. Second Prize, Certificate of Merit, James Ballard.

Her eyes flashing triumph, Lady

LOST IN ACTION

The youngest rating aboard H.M.C.S. Kaslo, "Ordinary" (Seaman) Kenneth Watson, was the only Canadian lost when the Canadian destroyer rammed and sunk a German U-boat after a spirited close range battle. He is pictured on the destroyer. Watson hailed from Revelstoke, B.C.

Bravely Carol parted from her boyish husband, while he tore across the field to join his squadron. Guns from afar were barking ominously, and dusk was being swallowed up by an early darkness, as Mrs. Miniver started with Carol on the last lap toward home.

"I wish I could go faster," she said, "but it's so dark!" Then a whole devastating succession. "Perhaps we should stop and put out the lights," said Mrs. Miniver. She drew up at the side of the road, as the whole party on the road seemed to centre about that spot of ground. The din was incessant, the danger terrible and mounting, but neither woman gave any sign of flinching. As a diving plane let loose a hail of machine-gun bullets, which sprayed around the car, Mrs. Miniver screamed. Then she saw fire rising from the village in the background. In another few minutes as the vortex of the fighting shifted away from them, she turned to take Carol's hand. The girl was limp and inert; a trickle of blood was running across her face.

The organ of the village church was playing softly as the parishioners filed inside. Vin looked years older. A spasm of pain shot across his face as he looked at Lady Beldon, across when she had not been there alone. Mrs. Miniver glanced down and placed a hand over her son's.

"After some great disaster," said the vicar slowly, "the survivors meet together with hearts bowed down, wondering how they can face the future. I look into your faces and I know this is not true of anyone here. War has broken the peace of centuries in this quiet corner of England, where death cannot strike without robbing us all of a friend. We have lost one close to this church, close to our affections—James Ballard, stationmaster and bell-ringer."

He paused, and seemed striving to control any quiver in his own voice. His eyes were fixed on the Miniver pew as he went on: "All our hearts go out in sympathy to the two families who share the cruel loss of a young girl married at this altar only two weeks ago." Again he paused, and looked upward. "The homes of many of us have been destroyed, the lives of young and old taken, yet we gather here, those who have been spared to worship God as our ancestors for a thousand years have worshipped him under this roof."

"I shall now read from Psalm Ninety-one: 'I will say of the Lord, He is my refuge and my fortress. My God, in Him will I trust. Surely He shall deliver me from the snare of the fowler, and from the noisome pestilence. Thou shalt not be afraid for the terror by night; nor for the arrow that flieth by day; nor for the pestilence that walketh in darkness; nor for the destruction that wasteth at noonday. His truth shall be thy shield and buckler.'"

He closed his book. The organist struck a preliminary chord, and the congregation rose as one. For generations the men and women and children of the village had sung the devout strains of "Oh God, Our Help in Ages Past," but never with such intense and united significance. As the voices rang out, a great beam of sunlight struck a jagged hole in the roof, and covered the worshippers in a glow of yellow radiance.

SMILE AWHILE

Had The Answer
"Papa," said little Mary, as they prepared to rise from the supper table, "I have a riddle I want to ask you."
"Go right ahead," said her fond daddy.
"Well," said little Mary, "It's about a woman who got married four times. The first time she married a millionaire. The second time she married an actor. The third husband was a preacher. And the fourth husband was an undertaker. Now, why did she marry them in that order?"
"I give up," said her father. "Why did she?"
And little Mary danced around and sang:
"One for the money; two for the show; three to get ready, and four to go."

What did your father say about you smugling up 'leaves'?"
"Shall I leave out the swear words?"
"Certainly."

"Then he didn't say anything."

Salesman—Oh, I'm afraid, sir, we can't deliver this order until our old account is paid up.

Customer—Oh, very well; cancel it—I can't think of waiting that long.

"That's a fine girl you've married," said the old friend.

"Yes," said the angler absent-mindedly, "but you should have seen the one that got away."

First Motorist—I love the beauties of the countryside.

Second Motorist—So do I. Here's one coming now; let's give her a lift.

"Why are you crying?"

"Father called mother a 'fiddling goose.'"

"Well?"

"Mother called father a stupid ass."

"But why are you crying?"

"Well, what am I?"

Little Girl—I know something I won't tell.

Daddy—Never mind, child. You will get over that when you're a little older.

"Oh, Why Can't I Write Well?"
"We is me!" you think. "I try so hard, I use up so much paper, and I just know he'll be bored to death with my letter!"
But wait a minute. Are you sure he'll be bored? Your news may not be much, but he'll love reading it if it's told right—and you can easily tell it right.

Don't just line up facts in little bald sentences: "Henry and Midge called for us. Another trick is to use the exact word, the "picture phrase." Not a "very good" speech, but "deeply moving" or "corrected, becomes 'I lay down.' " "Different than" becomes "different from."

... and face the facts NOW!

Sure the war costs money. Paying for it will be tough in the months ahead. Let's accept that fact—and face it. Now is the time to sharpen our pencils and figure what our taxes actually are... how we are going to pay them... and how we can adjust our living habits to get along on what's left. This is a job for every patriotic Canadian... a job that must be done now.

THIS WAY TO ALASKA

The great force of United States soldiers carving a highway to Alaska through the Canadian wilderness has conquered obstacles of all kinds. Through the bushland and across muskeg and rivers the road now extends for hundreds of miles. A typical ferry used by the army's engineers is shown in this photo. Utilising the river's current, a barge forces its way across on the end of a wire cable from shore to shore.
